The Value of Radio Advertising

Trusted local voice. Local radio carries high trust in regional markets, and sponsorship of a regular programme borrows that credibility. Across 173 broadcast days your name was heard in the same familiar setting, building the kind of recognition rural property decisions depend on.

Reaches people on the move. Audio reaches listeners in the car, at work and at home — including on the tractor, in the ute and in the yards. With 217 afternoon and 143 breakfast spots, the schedule met farmers and landholders through their working day.

Repetition builds recall. Property and livestock decisions are made infrequently, so the goal is to be top of mind when the moment comes. Delivering 677 spots over nine months kept Elders Batemans Bay present consistently rather than in short, forgettable bursts.

Scale across two stations. Radio reaches around 17 million Australians weekly, and your campaign split evenly across 2EC Bega and Power FM with 338 and 339 spots respectively. That dual footprint widened coverage across the coast without splitting your message.

Cost-efficient reach. Your effective cost per spot landed at $22.51 against a $53.00 published ratecard — 58% below card. For a regional agency, that efficiency means sustained year-round presence rather than a handful of expensive one-off placements.

Summary & Recommendations

Across January to September 2026, Elders Batemans Bay delivered 677 spots over 173 broadcast days for an investment of $15,240.00 excluding GST. You paid for 508 spots and received a further 169 on air at no charge, worth $8,957.00 at ratecard. Against a total ratecard value of $35,881.00, the campaign returned a 2.35x value multiple, with an effective cost per spot of $22.51 versus $53.00 published.

- 1. Hold the sponsorship position. Programme sponsorship works through familiarity, and nine months of consistent delivery has established that association. Renewing the This Week in Music package protects your ownership of that slot before it becomes available to a competitor.
- 2. Align bursts to selling seasons. Delivery sat at a steady 80 spots per month. Consider weighting a portion of next year's schedule to your key clearing sale, spring listing and weaner sale periods so weight lifts when buyer intent is highest.
- 3. Add drive-time weight. Drive carried 117 spots, the lightest of the daytime dayparts. Shifting some evening weight into drive would catch landholders travelling home from properties and saleyards, when longer in-car listening sessions are common.
- 4. Refresh creative mid-term. With 677 spots over nine months, message fatigue is worth managing. Rotating two or three executions — one for property listings, one for livestock services — keeps the sponsorship sounding current and lets you test which offer resonates.
